

To whom it may concern:

I am Dr. Riccardo Corrado, an assistant professor and head of the Management of Information Systems (MIS) department at Paragon International University, Phnom Penh, Cambodia.

It is with great pleasure that I recommend Mr. Kevin Keo for the exchange program at Centennial College, Canada, for one semester through the SEED scholarship program. Kevin began his undergraduate path in the MIS Department at Paragon International University while studying at the same time at the Institute of Foreign Languages, an institution under the Royal University of Phnom Penh. I have had the pleasure of having Kevin as my student for two courses in his freshmen year, MIS 120 (Computers, the Internet and the Networked Society) and MIS 112 (IT Applications for Business Purposes). He is a very committed and self-driven student, with a positive attitude and a strong work ethic. He has deep family values and is a remarkably polite student. I truly believe that his skills, passion, and curiosity will make him a great candidate for this exchange program.

Paragon International University strives to become a leading, private higher education provider in Cambodia in terms of quality of teaching, research, and community services. The vision of the MIS department is perfectly aligned with the vision of the university. Many of our students have won national and international competitions across the region. Coming from Europe, I can comfortably say that Paragon International University is one of the best, if not the best university in Cambodia.

Because of Kevin's abilities, teamwork skills, and his personal values and ethics, I find that I can offer Kevin "my highest" recommendation for this exchange program at Centennial College for one semester through the SEED scholarship program. I am confident that he will be able to benefit a lot from this experience and bring back to Cambodia a new mentality that will help him to grow and support the growth of his country, even if in the small measure that one single student can.

Should you require further details of assessment, please feel free to email me at rcorrado@paragoniu.edu.kh

Sincerely,

Dr. Riccardo Corrado
Assistant Professor of Information Engineering
Head of the Management of Information Systems Department
Paragon International University